Former Scout leader sued for $100,000 after fondling

By LISA MARCHESONI

News Journal Staff Writer

A lawsuit seeking $100,000 in damages was filed recently in Circuit Court against a former Smyrna Boy Scout leader convicted of fondling a boy in his troop.

The mother of the 11-year-old abused youth sued Victor Ken Rinehart, 35, of 122 Bailey Collins Drive in Smyrna.

In his January best-interest plea, Rinehart claimed no memory of the sexual assault but agreed there was sufficient evidence for a plea of guilty, said Bill Whitesell, assistant district attorney.

Circuit Judge James Clayton sentenced the former Boy Scout leader to three years at the Rutherford County Workhouse. He began serving his sentence in March.

Asa Davis, assistant workhouse supervisor, said Rinehart was released Sept. 24 on a court order.

Rinehart's mother said Friday her son was at work but did not want to comment on the lawsuit.

In the lawsuit, the fondled boy's mother stated her son was at Rinehart's home Sept. 30, 1989.

Rinehart approached her son with his pants unzipped and unbuttoned, the lawsuit stated.

The former leader sat on the boy's legs, tried to lay down atop him and grabbed him, the lawsuit alleged.

Rinehart threatened to kill her son if he told anyone of the assault, the lawsuit stated.

The former leader abused a position of trust in his role, the lawsuit stated.

As a result of the abuse, the youth "suffered great pain and anguish of body and mind and was put to great expense for medical and psychological treatment."

Besides the $100,000, the mother seeks additional punitive damages. She requested a jury trial.

Rinehart worked as a Boy Scout leader 17 years before resigning in October 1989 after his arrest on aggravated sexual battery charges.

Sheriff officers probe abuse of Scouts

By LISA MARCHESSONI
News Journal Staff Writer

SALVINA — Investigators began interviewing Roy Spry and their parents Tuesday to determine if a Scout leader charged with molesting a boy abused other youngsters in the case, said Sheriff's Detective Lt. Vignelli Gammmon.

Victor Ken Rinehart Jr., 34, of 122 Mulley Colburn Drive in Smyrna, was charged Sunday with aggravated sexual battery of a boy under age 13. He is free on $10,000 bond. Rinehart is scheduled for arraignment in General Sessions Court Oct. 12.

An arrest warrant states Rinehart, with his son, was molested and undressed, tried to tie on the boy, then grabbed the boy's groin area. The alleged assault happened at Rinehart's home.

The victim and Rinehart are not related, Gammmon said, but the youngster is a Boy Scout.

Scout Rinehart has contact with as a result of his scouting activities.

"From evidence found, we construed he may be classified as a pedophile, but we don't know if that's the case," Gammmon said.

A pedophile is an adult who prefers children as sexual partners.

Detectives found a number of photographs at Rinehart's home showing boys without shirts, said Detective Jim Gage, who along with Detective Chuck Thomas began the investigation Friday.

Rinehart seemed to be an "opportunity" Gage said.

"We don't know if this is an isolated incident," Gammmon said.

Because there are possibly more victims involved, Gammmon said, teams of sheriff's detectives and Department of Human Services workers began interviewing potential victims and parents.

"Most kids, we don't feel like, have anything to do with this," Gammmon said. "There are only a few who may have been targeted (by Rinehart)."

However, Gage said, there is a possibility there are victims authorities do not know about.

"If parents are concerned their children have been around this subject, they should contact the sheriff's department for an interview by one of the teams," Gage said.

Concerned parents may call detectives at 888 7287 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays or 888 7288 at other times.

The district DHS office joined the investigation. Tennessee Bureau of Investigation will also be involved due to the nature of the alleged abuse, Gammmon said.

Rinehart does not have a criminal record, Gammmon said, but detectives intend to examine his background thoroughly. Friday's complaint was the first one received on Rinehart by the Rutherford County Sheriff's Department.

Rinehart, who volunteered as a Scout leader several years ago, coordinated trips and activities for both Boy Scouts and older Explorers scouts.

"We will start out with the most recent activities and go back as far as we need to go," Gammmon said.

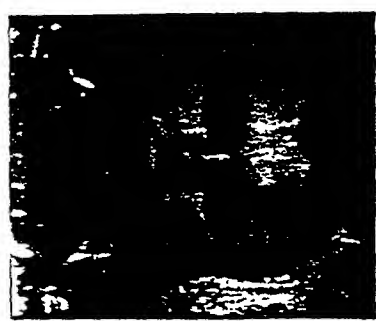

"At this point, we're not sure how many trips Rinehart was involved in," Gage said.

The teams of investigators will "act on other possible victims," Gage said.

If more alleged abuses are documented, those charges will probably be presented to the grand jury.

The sheriff's department wants to help possible victims — not only by prosecuting Rinehart, Gage said, but to ensure the Accused child molester drew earlier check

By LISA MARCHESSONI
News Journal Staff Writer

An accused child molester was investigated earlier this year after parents and Boy Scout leaders complained about his methods in teaching their son, a Boy Scout official says.

Ambler Brown of the Scouts Middle Tennessee Council said the complaint alleged Victor Ken Rhinehart Jr., a Smyrna Scout leader, asked Scouts to remove shirts during training, and Brown, who handles the council's public relations, said he was not involved.

That complaint was "not a serious allegation," Brown said. Council executives referred the complaint to state Department of Human Services (DHS) investigators who "felt like it was not a problem," Brown said.

Rhinehart, 34, 122 Bailey Collins Drive in Smyrna, was charged Sunday with aggravated sexual battery of a boy under age 18. The youngster is a member of the Boy Scouts.

Donnie Welchance, DHS county director, referred all questions about the earlier complaint to sheriff's Detective J. Virgil Gannon, who is coordinating the follow-up in the case.

After Rhinehart was arrested Sunday, his registration as a Boy Scout leader was removed. Brown said.

Boy Scout councils take precautions to secure quality leaders through checking backgrounds and references, Brown said. "It's an unfortunate thing that in some cases somebody does something that is unfortunate," he said. "Please see Accused, page 10."

After careful review, we have decided that your registration with Boy Scouts of America should be denied. We are therefore compelled to request that you sever any relations that you may have with the Boy Scouts of America. A refund of your registration is enclosed.

Sheriff officers probe abuse of Scouts

SAVINGNA - Investigators began today to determine if a Scout leader charged with fondling a boy abused other youngsters in his care, said sheriff's Detective T.D. Vail.

Victim Ken Blinchart Jr., 34, of 122 Bailey Avenue Drive in Smyrna, was charged Sunday with aggravated sexual battery of a boy under age 13. He is free on $10,000 bond. Blinchart is scheduled for arraignment in General Sessions Court Oct. 17.
